Enrollment 2097
The 2003-2004 school year saw one of the biggest changes at Euclid High School since the incorporation of the ninth grade several decades ago. This was the implementation of the Transformation Initiative which changed the school into six smaller schools. The idea behind the smaller schools was that with smaller schools there would be a better relationship between students and teachers which would lead to a greater desire to learn on the part of the students which would lead to better attendance, more learning, less discipline problems, fewer fights, greater community involvement with the schools, better scoring on the proficiency tests and everyone living happily ever after. The problem was that it had to be done all at once and it had to be done so that the six smaller schools had to open in the fall of 2004. Some of the problems that arose from that was that staff that were working on reorganization were released from their classes so there were substitutes that had to take over for many teachers and counselors. This large change in personnel had to affect the learning process. Because the program was so new, no one knew where it was going or how to get there. There was certainly a lot of change going on throughout the year.

Steve Dominick was a running back for the football team and gained many yards with his powerful running. He always had to anticipate where the holes would be so he could get a good run.

Jamal Wilson, Jennifer Crookall, Andrea Tarach and Brittany Sidak anticipate action for the year.

The Panther anticipates action on the field.

Mindy Gelofsack anticipated the view from the top.
Mike Shamlin anticipates problems as he climbs on top of Mike Valentine and Tim Ewing.

Ms. Diane Tizzano directs the band and anticipates a very musical year for her students.

student's life was very different in the 2003-2004 school year. Many things were different than from previous years. There were so many unknowns that were going on because of the school transformation. One would have thought that seniors would be immune to these feelings since they would be gone by the time that the transformation was implemented in the fall of 2004. They were affected, however, since many of their teachers were involved in the design of the new schools and were either permanently out of class for the year or missing many days because of meetings. It was the underclass students that really experienced the major student life changes since they would be entering the transformed schools in the fall. Facing the unknown always was a scary feeling and because of so many unknowns about the structure of the transformed school there was much that the students were afraid of. This did not mean, however, that the students stopped participating in school events. Students went about their daily business, attended club activities and participated in sports. There still a life at Euclid High School.

FEELING RIGHT AT HOME

Spirit Week consisted of five days of dressing up prior to the Homecoming Game on Friday, October 3 and the Homecoming Dance on Saturday, October 4. Monday was “Hat Day”, Tuesday was “Bad Hair Day”, Wednesday was “Cleveland Sports Jersey Day”, Thursday was “Decades Day” and Friday was “Blue and Gold Day”. Lots of students had a good time throughout the week dressing up to match the theme of the day. The week ended with the annual Homecoming football game with the Lakewood Rangers. The game was very exhilarating and there was a large crowd to support the Panthers. Both teams had identical 4-2 records when they met in the cold, pouring rain. The cheerleaders were determined to Euclid a home victory. They got into the spirit and yelled themselves hoarse encouraging the team to fight. Euclid got behind early and as the night wore on both teams seemed to grow weary, but Euclid toughed it out and scored in the very last second. Unfortunately, it too little and too late and Lakewood won 21-13. There were many diehard fans who braved the weather to the very end and gave the team support and enthusiasm.

This year's Homecoming dance took place on Saturday, October 4, 2003, and was dubbed with the theme "Vegas Nights." The dance was held in the E-room ballroom, and it lasted from 8:00 until 11:00 P.M. The E-room and ballroom were beautifully decorated by Student Council with lights, balloons, banners, decks of cards, and dice. Cards with the names of the students that came lined the walls of the ballroom to give it the Casino theme. The colors were red, black, gold, silver, and green. 700 tickets were sold to the dance which was the capacity of the E-room. More students would have come but they were limited to 700 by the fire department. Euclid High School was wonderfully represented by the students who ran for the Homecoming Court. Archie Smith was crowned King, and Monique Drake was crowned Queen. This year's Prince was Ricardo Newell, and Andrea Tarach was chosen to be the Princess. The position of Sophomore Attendant was won by Ciera Pringle. After the dance ended, students were given a key chain, a Las Vegas cup, and a chocolate slot machine token to be taken home. Homecoming proved to be a fun night of dancing for all the students who attended.

ANTICIPATING CHANGE

The Class of 2004 was lucky since they did not have to face the consequences that were involved with the Transformation Initiative. They entered Euclid High School with all of its amenities as freshmen and were now in position to graduate from that same Euclid High School. During that time they matured just as all the fifty-four classes ahead of them did and were now in the position of entering the world of post-high school education or work. The students schedules differed from previous years with the many Early Release Days that they had and the different teachers that they had in class due to the new principals being trained for the transformed school. The seniors were still the oldest class in the school and its members were the students who participated in the most activities and worked the hardest to keep the school moving. The seniors were the most useful and the most helpful. They worked hard to get things done. They were the movers and the shakers.

GETTING READY FOR THE REAL WORLD

Seniors are being prepared for the world after graduation

In order to graduate all seniors had to pass the Ninth Grade Proficiency Exam. This showed that the students had at least a rudimentary amount of information and that they should be able to function in the real world. Many Euclid seniors had a lot of enthusiasm for life and all that would be necessary to succeed in it. Life would be difficult but many were prepared for it.

Amber Devese and Monique Drake and their parents were honored at the last football game.

Gionna Parker comes around the right end for a good gain in the third annual Powder Puff football game.

Right and Far Right: Meredith Wise, Erin Rice and Michelle Zudic and Chris Seawright, Chad Richardson, Delano Rogers and Reco Duncan were all part of the students at Euclid High School who helped make it great.

The girls who played in the third annual Powder Puff football game and the boys who coached them had a lot of fun even though it rained throughout the game.

Seniors involved in fall sports were recognized with their parents at the last football game of the season.

20 Senior
SENIORS BELIEVE THAT ATTENDANCE IS IMPORTANT

Jessica Oslund knows that it is important to be in school every day and does her best to have good attendance.

Dennis Horvath and Sterling Keaton work hard in class to try to understand as much as they can.

Kim Carotenuto enjoys all the time she spends with the Flag Corps and in school. She knows that being in school is a learning experience and that attendance is important. She has attended Euclid schools all her life and has only missed three days of school during that time.

eniors were polled as to whether they thought that it was important to be in school every day. 86% of the seniors who responded said that attendance was important. This was markedly high that in the previous year, when only 76% thought that attendance was important.

The class of 2004 responded to a poll in which they were asked who their favorite teacher was. Forty-five teachers were mentioned by members of the senior class as being their favorite. There was very little difference separating the top vote getter from the last but in the end Mr. Bill Von Benken received the most votes. Mr. Matt Allison and Mrs. Jo-Rita Perez were tied for second place. The three tied for third place were Ms. Sue Amato, Ms. Barbra Spiga, and Ms. Tracy Wienhold. The four tied for fourth place were Mr. Mike Fording, Mrs. Beverly House, Ms. Mary Pignatiello, and Mr. Ron Zucca. The six teachers tied for fifth place were Ms. Al Barucci, Mrs. Janet Federe, Mr. John Hammond, Mr. Steve Marcu, Mrs. Shari Smith, and Ms. Jean Wroblewski. The rest of the teachers who received at least one vote in no particular order were: Mrs. Ingrid Koenig, Mr. Morris Ervin, Mrs. Barbra Masseria, Mr. Matt Young, Mrs. Michelle Me Garry, Mrs. Margaret Metti, Mrs. Cindy Delong, Mr. Brad Findlayson, Ms. Katie Morris, Mr. George Henderson, Mrs. Kimberly Fish, Mr. Jim Kennedy, Mr. Barry Mita, Mr. Bob Torrelli, Mr. Greg James, Mr. Bill Gray, Mr. Larry Isaacs, Mrs. Kathleen Johnson, Mrs. Sue Withers, Mrs. Tina Elliott, Mrs. Ellen Klein, Mrs. Chris Kaiser, Mrs. Laura Boyd, Ms. Kathleen Mc Donald, Mrs. Marketa President, Mr. Dale Hollingsworth, Ms. Diane Tizzano, Mr. Scott Wilson, and Mr. Mike Rezzola.

Right and Far Right: Mr. Bob Torrelli and Mr. Steve Marcu work with their students so they gain a better understanding of what is expected of them.
Wet weather couldn’t dampen spirits at third annual Powder Puff game

The third annual Powder Puff football game was held on Tuesday, October 28 in the stadium. The event gained popularity among the participants since it gave the girls a chance to play football with a team. The only downside was a drizzle that occurred throughout the game which cut down on the number of spectators but failed to decrease the enthusiasm that the girls exhibited on the field. The girls really played hard and with great determination as was evident by the amount of mud and grass stains on their clothes and bodies. Boys provided the cheerleading for the support of the players on the field. The Gold Team scored first and was ahead 8-0 when the blue scored to make it 8-6. Each team scored again to make it 14-12 in favor of the Gold. The Gold team made another touchdown on the last play of the game to make it 20-12. It was a fun game that was enjoyed by all.

HOW EMBARRASSING

Seniors reveal how they got caught with a face

SAY SOMETHING

Lori Leppelmeier got into a popsicle fight with Sarah Cosmo in the cafeteria and they both had to walk around all day with red popsicles all over them.

Emily McIlvaine was about to take a test as a sophomore when she opened a carton of chocolate milk and spilled it all over herself, the desk and the test. She had the milk in class since she didn't have a lunch period since she was taking so many classes.

Lindsay McGill was skipping school with a bunch of boy friends when her boyfriend drove by and caught her.

James Mihalo was wearing his ROTC uniform with nothing but a muscle shirt underneath when he walked into homeroom and everyone laughed.

Andrew Miskin took a half hour to find his locker on his first day of school as a freshman.

Julia Myers tripped over the speed bump in the parking lot.

Rashad Newsom was going home on the bus when it had a breakdown and everyone had to walk home. He was embarrassed because he was wearing a fisher shirt and some long johns with a house shoe on one foot and a church shoe on the other because it was mist match day for Homecoming.

Mary Jo Osterman was a sophomore in lunch when she was returning her tray and slipped in some gravy on the floor. Both legs went flying in the air and she fell on her butt. Everyone in the whole cafeteria saw it and were laughing hysterically. Especially her crush at the time who still talks about it.

Trevor Ponilski dropped his books after he ran into a door.

Michelle Rendreau went to the Halloween Dance as a freshman dressed as Britney Spears in her "Baby One More Time" attire. After arriving she realized the dance was not a costume dance but a casual dress dance and she was the only one dressed up. She left early.

Ashley Robertson was embarrassed when the top of her dress fell down at the 2002 Prom.

Courtney Rodgers was playing an away basketball game as a freshman. It was near the end of the second quarter when her bra became loose and everyone could see her straps falling off. She had to play the last two minutes of the half before she could fix her bra. She never forgot her sports bra after that.

Tori Roche was a junior when she stepped on the back of Abby Pataet's pants. The pants tore and both girls fell into the doorway of the classroom and fell down with Teri on top.

Crystal Sutton was in the ninth grade and had gotten dressed up so she could go out after school. During lunch she spilled ketchup on her shirt and had to go through the rest of the day with her ID at the top of her shirt.

Valerie Taddie was embarrassed when someone told her she had a rip in her pants.

Andrea Tarach tripped over a flag from the Flag Corps in the auditorium while going up the stairs by the stage after failing out the senior survey.

Cassie Taylor pole vaulted at a track meet and bounced off the mat and ran into the stands.

Autumn Tipton lost a bet and had to kiss a bald guy on the head in the library.

Janelle Wallace was so lost when she first came to Euclid High School. She read her schedule incorrectly and went to every class in the wrong period. She would be in a class and they would tell her that she didn't run into the standards.

Jocelyn Willingham had to stand up in class in the fifth grade because she didn't have her homework. It made her cry.

Were you ever embarrassed? Everyone has been at some time in their lives. Most people just forget them and they are never heard again. Some seniors, however, remembered some of their most embarrassing moments and were willing to share them with the entire school. Some students had some really interesting moments.

Chloe Barkari was escorted to class in tenth grade after being caught in the girl’s restroom after the bell rang without a half pass.

Shawn Black was embarrassed when he had a bad hair cut.

Elise Braunschweig got out of the car before school and noticed she was wearing two different shoes. She had to walk through the halls with Skechers on one foot and Adidas on the other until her mother brought her another shoe.

Floyd Brezcella fell while running up stairs and a security guard saw him and began laughing.

Kara Brehm was embarrassed when she totally wiped out on her snowboard in front of some really hot guys during Ski Club her junior year.

Greg Brinovec tripped up the stairs.

Kimberly Carotenuto was performing with the Flag Corps during halftime of a basketball game. They were doing a kick line and her hair piece fell out in front of everyone.

Jennifer Crookall was embarrassed when her shoe blew off.

Brandy Churny was walking into school as a freshman in the winter with two of her friends when she fell flat onto her back. Everyone began laughing but when she finally got into school she had to go to the nurse because her hand was bleeding.

Kay Dawson was meeting her boyfriend for the first time when she put her pants on backwards. She had to call him using a pay phone and when she got back into the car her pants split down the back and she had no cover up or back up clothes.

Jennifer Eastburn was walking through the snow after school and was wearing slide-in dress shoes. Lori Leppelmeier was in front of her so she was trying to follow in Lori’s footsteps. She picked up her foot to discover that one shoe was missing and she couldn’t find it. She had to walk all the way to the car with only one shoe.

Jennifer Eastburn was missing around with Sam Morris and they got into a shoving match which resulted in Sam getting pushed into the fire extinguisher and the glass broke all over the floor.

Jamie Gabriel ran into a locker looker at Skittle.

Claudio Gentile was embarrassed when Mrs. Tina Peterson kept accusing him of making out with his girl friend backstage during the Spring Play in ninth grade.

Steve Gilha slid head first down the hallway after a basketball game and split his chin open.

Natalie Greene woke up for SAT’s five minutes after she was supposed to be there. She threw on a sweatshirt and got to school, ran down the hall and made it just in time...in her pajamas.

Jethro Giulamo almost tripped in the hallway but recovered without a problem.

Erin Gutbrod was a freshman when she got down on her knees and proposed to a security guard. He said yes, but it didn’t work out.

Rebecca Kinison was a freshman when she got down on her knees and proposed to a security guard. He said yes, but it didn’t work out.

Shanna Jones was a freshman when she got down on her knees and proposed to a security guard. He said yes, but it didn’t work out.

Andrea Tarach tripped on the stairs.

Shivon Jackson was at basketball practice as a freshman and farted really loud.

Many seniors participated in Euclid’s opportunities

There were a wealth of activities that Euclid students could participate in during their years at Euclid High School. If a student was interested in sports, Euclid had a complete lineup of freshmen, JV and varsity teams in every popular type. If the student wanted to help others there were service organizations like Key Club to fill the need. If you wanted to help the school there was Student Council. If you wanted to help the earth there was SAVE. Students could learn about other cultures and other people and the way other governments worked. There were many organizations that students could participate in and if there wasn’t an appropriate organization students could get together and form a new club if they could find an adviser for the group. Students were only limited by their own imaginations.

Sports were a very important part of life for many of the students at Euclid High School. Euclid offered all of the major sports that were popular among the schools in the area. Freshmen, sophomores, juniors, and seniors were able to join almost any sport that they chose. Most teams had a level that would be suitable for their skill level such as Freshman, Junior Varsity or Varsity. Anyone could join a sport such as football, tennis, golf, volleyball, soccer, cross-country, basketball, wrestling, hockey, track, swimming, baseball and softball. Hockey, wrestling, golf, tennis and track did not have any Freshman or JV teams but that was only because there were not enough students interested in the sport. Participation in athletics was an excellent way for students to improve their skills and team about other people.

CAME REALLY close to PLAYOFFS

Varsity had a good game against Mentor and almost got to the playoffs

The 2001 Euclid Panther Football team finished with a 6-4 record. One more victory would have qualified them for the playoffs. They lost close games to teams that made the playoffs. They lost 14-17 to Mentor, who was second in the state at the time. They also beat a very strong Strongsville team 33-14. They also beat an undefeated Garfield Heights team 35-19.

The football team was led by captains: Brandon Smith, who led 123 tackles for the year, Delano Rodgers, who was the leading rusher in Euclid history, fourth in total offense, and first in career passing. Chris Seawright, who was the top defensive back on the team, and Steve Dominick, who was the leading receiver. Brandon Smith and Chris Seawright were picked for Division I first team defense by the News Herald. Delano Rodgers was picked for the second team offense and Thaddeus Gibson and Averette Hagler were picked for second team defense. Keith Morris was given a special mention and Tajadean McCoy, Mario Milicevic, Valentino Halton, Chris Parish, Shaun Paythers, Steve Dominick and Jamall Jatery were given an honorable mention. Coach Mike Rezzolia commented, “We lost quality seniors and young men this year, it will be hard to replace them. I will miss them all.”

The 2007 season was not a good one for the girls' tennis team. They did not have any returning players and finished the season with an 0-18 overall record and 0-6 in the L.E.L. Only a couple of the girls were able to win their individual matches in all the schools that they played throughout the season. They did manage to get a point against Wieland, but most of the seasons were 0-5. The girls definitely had a "no heart" on the court. They worked hard at it, but couldn't make up for the lack of experience. Laura Hagenbaugh played best singles, with Zoë Harrold and Linda Berry playing second and third singles, respectively. Zoë was a strong contributor to the team. Kate Kinison and Rebecca Kinison while Linda Berry and Mia Brantley played second doubles. The team anticipated a dismal future since it was almost all seniors.

64 Cross Country
Cross country teams worked hard but had a tough season

The 2003 Euclid Boys' Cross Country team ran through a tough but interesting season. They often ran through mud and experienced many extremely hot or cold days. Coach Mr. Ed Klein and Assistant Coach Mr. Paul Nielsen encouraged the runners to practice hard and work on improving their times. Two of the team's best runners were the seniors John Suhy and Tom Woldering. David Mc Cauley and Malcolm Mc Cauley, also seniors, ran wonderfully and contributed greatly to the team. The juniors, Andrew Jurcak, Orlando Meredith, and Nathan Miller, accomplished a lot throughout the season. Sophomores Travis Beach, Vince Marvin and Cory Schneider greatly improved their times and showed leadership throughout the season. Freshmen Marc Ranieri, Sean Wilford, Nate Suhy, Lee Barwick and Ray Stuber ran very well and should show considerable improvement during later years. -Holly Yanacek

As in any sport, stretching out is important part of a cross-country workout. The Boys' and Girls' Cross-Country teams show how flexible they are.

2003 Euclid Girls' Cross Country team experienced a challenging but exciting season. The girls practiced with the Boys Cross Country team, and they were under the combined leadership of Head Coach, Mr. Ed Klein and Assistant Coach, Mr. Paul Nielsen. Throughout the season, the number of girls participating dwindled until only five remained. Cherice May, the team's most accomplished runner, placed very well in all of the races that she ran. Cherice placed in districts and advanced to regionals. Freshmen Ashley Jones and Arrionne Nolcox both worked very hard to improve their times. Sophomores Cassie Hilston and Holly Yanacek also contributed greatly to the team. Jessica Cunningham, Dominique Bates and Tameka Greene ran with and helped out the team during most of the season. Everyone improved their times and received good places in the meets. -Holly Yanacek

The 2003-2004 Euclid Panther Boys' Basketball team showed improvement over the previous year and finished with an overall record of 10-10 and 4-6 in the L.E.L. The team worked hard, but just did not have the offense of previous years and seemed to run out of gas at the end of each game. The season consisted of many low scoring games in which the Panthers were not able to score even 50 points. Some of the JV games had higher scores than the varsity. Also, the Panthers had the lead throughout the third quarter but then did not maintain the fight and went into a prevent mode and eventually lost the lead and the game. One really bright star in the Panthers lineup was Desmond Motley who was one of the leading scorers and rebounders on the team. He had the ability to get open under the basket and to make the shot and was one of the important factors that kept the Panthers in the game. The good news was that Desmond was only a sophomore and had two more years to improve. Head Coach, Sean O'Toole, said the team worked hard together but just couldn’t get the breaks that it needed.

Basketball 69
The 2003-2004 Euclid Girls Basketball team worked hard and showed some very good results for the season with a 12-7 overall record. The season began with a high with a win over VASJ but then took a down turn when they lost to Shaker Heights in a very sloppy game. They then got some good wins and it looked as if they were going to be a force until they seemed to lose the touch and began falling behind the leaders. LeShay Johnson was the spark plug for the team throughout the year with her passing and shooting and overall ball handling. The team also had players like Jazmine Bell, Mikita Duncan and Daniqua Dothard who helped make the season a successful one. The high point of the season, however, came when the Panthers beat North 51-41 for the Division 1 sectional title at Perry’s Spectator Gymnasium. It was the first time any of the members had won a sectional game and North had not lost a sectional game since 1996. Coach, Lynn Phillips wanted her players to stick to their game and keep pressure on the opponents at all times.

The 2003-2004 Euclid Panther Wrestling Team experienced a season that was full of surprises. Overall, the team improved and they won some matches and came close to winning others. They were able to just win over Chardon and West Geauga. Steve Dominick, Nick Kelly and Myron McConnell were the workhorses for the team and scored many victories. One major problem, however, was that there just wasn’t enough wrestlers to fill all the weight classes and some weights had to be forfeited. With the supportive help of the coaches, Head Coach, Mr. Joe Tucceri, and Assistant Coaches, Mr. Mike Turk, Mr. Greg Sattler, and Mr. Anthony Ranallo, team members were able to develop their skills and get more pins.

Hockey needed more players to put on the ice. It was not an exceptional year for the Panther hockey team. Finishing the season with an overall record of 6-18-2 and 2-10 in the G.C.H.S.H.L., which put them in fifth place in the Blue Central Division. They didn’t have enough players to be able to skate competitively with the other schools. Adding to that was the usual injuries that always occur and the season was not an unqualified success. The players played hard and practiced diligently but it just was too tiring when the same players had to be on the ice for long periods of time. Mr. Frank Soltesz was the coach for the team and was assisted by his son, Frank A. Soltesz who was a former hockey player for the Panthers.

was no different from previous years for the Indoor Track Teams since they were able to post many victories over the teams that they competed against. The 2004 Euclid Panther Boys' Swim team was excellent, having a winning record of 6 and 12, at .500. The whole team helped to win in their own part, from relays, sprints, and distances. Two seniors, Jonathan Suhy and Brian Schweikert were excellent assets to this great team, and they will be missed. The boys' captains, Jon Suhy and Andrew Jurcak helped to get the whole team motivated and ready to swim their meets to the best of their ability. Zach Schlosser led the diving boys and even qualified for districts. This team had the leadership from a great coach, Mr. John Elliot, who strove for the best out of his swimmers. From all the fun and great kid on this team, they will be number one in years to come.

Boys’ and girls’ swim teams worked hard in the water

The 2004 Euclid Panther Girls’ Swim team was excellent even though their record was 3 and 12, there were some tough teams. Senior Elyse Hilston helped in her part magnificently and is going to be a great loss to the team next year. The two girl captains, Erika Slovira and Anna Sudar did their part to get the team ready to compete at every meet. Katie Carter and Allie Montague were the female divers, and Katie Carter finished eighth in the state competition. She was one of Euclid’s best girl divers of all time. Euclid was very proud to have her as one of our divers. The team had great motivation from their coach, Mr. John Elliot, and their assistant coach, Mr. Gerald Thomas. Euclid is aiming high in the years to come.

The 2003-2004 Panther cheerleader staff consisted of many girls and boys who were dedicated to the idea that they would put on an appealing show for the fans. One big difference between this year and the former ones were the number of mounts that the members provided. The team did their best to get as many members off the ground as they could which lead to a different visual effect. Directed by Mrs. Jennifer Teknipp the members worked hard to bring the cheerleading routines into a third dimension of height. You could say that the cheerleaders went to great heights to have a successful season.

One of the benefits of attending Euclid High School was the opportunity to participate in many extracurricular activities. For many students, the day ends at 2:25 p.m., and they were out of the building by 2:30. But for many students, 2:30 signaled the beginning of the second part of their school day. Many students were involved in interscholastic sports and many others were members of some of the many clubs and activities that were available to all students. From Art Club to S.A.V.E., and everything in between, a student would be able to find a group of other students who had an interest in what they were interested in.
At the S.A.V.E. meeting students learned about Earth’s resources and how they should be conserved.

East 222nd St. Jazz Band held their annual Winter Concert on Monday, December 15, 2003 in the auditorium. They played such pieces as, "Feliz Navidad," "Gimme Some Lovin,'" "I'll Be Home for Christmas," "Beauty and the Beast," "Good King Wenceslas," "Flip, Flop and Fly," and "A Little Christmas Jazz Suite." The musicians practiced after school in order to perfect their technique and sounds and were able to present an enjoyable performance. Voices of New Life Gospel Choir sings their music from their hearts

The Voices of New Life Choir presented their Annual Winter Concert with the Jazz Band on Monday, December 15, 2003. The students began practicing for their performance at the beginning of the school year and worked hard after school to get it all together. They performed the songs, Silent Night, Go Tell it on the Mountain, Have You Heard About Jesus?, I'm Determined to Walk With Jesus, Yield Not to Temptation, O How I Love Jesus, Where Would I Be?, and My Desire. The students had a good time presenting the songs and the audience enjoyed their performance. The group was directed by Mr. Clifton Beasley and Ms. Teresa Smith.

Marching Band added color and motion to the pre-game and half time festivities on the field.

Euclid Panther High School Marching Band had an immense amount of power this year. Pre-game blasted off with the strong melody of "Emperata Overture". Following that was Euclid High School’s "Alma Mater", the "Star-Spangled Banner", and the "Fight Song". There were a lot of experienced players, being led by Field Commanders Paul Serwatka, Courtney Biehl, and Cathleen Zalewski, as well as Ms. Tizzano (director), Ms. Wroblewski (assistant director), Mrs. Ewing (auxiliary), Miss Ewing (auxiliary), and Mr. Trzninski (percussion). The Section Leaders being Kate Kinison (clarinet), Kyle Strothbeck (alto saxophone), Jon Calabrese (mellophone), Chris Kinison (trumpet), Greg Brinovec (trumpet), Greg McKay (percussion), Antonio Wright (percussion), Cassie Taylor (percussion), Michelle Klenk (percussion), Jessie Osmond (baritone), Kara Brezin (trombone), J.P. Haynes (tuba), Elise Braunschweig (flute), Kim Carotenuto (flag corps), Jannie Gabriel (majorettes), and Jackie Vazquez (rifle). Show 1 showed explosive performances with "Joy to the World", "Respect", "E-Town" and the famous tradition of pulsating drum breaks and dances. The Squad Leaders consisted of Elyse Hilsen (clarinet), Becky Kinison (clarinet), Chris George (alto saxophone), Gretchen Gudaitis (trumpet), Rob Vazquez (percussion), Amanda Hayes (flute), Rachel Sova (flag corps), Monica Dorsey (flag corps), and Katlyn McGinty (flag corps). The Euclid High School Marching Band performed at many great places, including Cedar Point, Midpark Festival, and Perry High School Festival. Cedar Point was really awesome. They marched through the park for a bit, playing their tunes, and then they got to just go and goof off. The students had a marvelous time. At the end of the summer, the members went to Band Camp, which was tough, but they got a lot of good practice out of it. The band performed at all of the football games. They also presented a concert in the gym after the end of the football season. A highlight of the year was the trip to Disney World in November before Thanksgiving break. The members endured a long bus ride to Florida and back, but they had a lot of fun playing in the parades and visiting the parks.

WAVING THEIR FLAGS IN THE BREEZE
Flag Corps had lots of fun marching and twirling their flags

The Majorettes began their season with the Marching Band when they began practicing at the school in August. They learned all the routines that they would need throughout the season as they performed at the many football games. They sweated through band camp and all the hot days of the summer so they could have fun marching and waving their flags during the football season. They worked hard at keeping together and making their performances memorable.

90 Choral Masters/Concert Choir excitement to the Holiday Concert

The music department at Euclid High School presented its annual Holiday Concert in the auditorium. The choral part of the show consisted of selections presented by Varsity Chorale, Choral Masters, the Concert Choir, and Forte. Varsity Chorale began the show with their quick-paced, enthusiastic singing and dancing. This was followed by the Concert Choir which presented several holiday selections. Forte was the next group that had their chance to express to the audience their appreciation of the holiday season. After that, the Choral Masters finished up the choral section of the program with selections like "O Come All Ye Faithful," "The First Breath of Winter," "Noel," "I've Got My Love To Keep Me Warm," and "Silent Night." The concert was very well put together and the students worked very hard and gave an excellent performance.

Students in the orchestra played various songs including Thunder and Lightening Polka, Russian Sailors Dance, and A Christmas Festival. They also accompanied the choirs with the playing of Hallelujah Chorus, and A Tribute of Carols. The orchestra members were directed by Mrs. Cathy Vetovitz. A highlight of the year for students in the orchestra was their exclusive trip to Disney World. The Marching Band marched through all of Magic Kingdom, while the orchestra played in Tomorrow Land.

BAND AND ORCHESTRA

their concerts in the winter

The Euclid High School Marching Band had Concert Band to look forward to as the Marching Band season ended. Concert Band musicians endured many long hours of practicing with their instruments during homeroom, in class, and after school. The students in Concert Band worked hard to learn all of the music that they performed at their winter concert with the orchestra on February 3, 2004, in the auditorium. Concert Band performed a variety of songs at that concert including: Amperito Rora, Three Old American Ballads, Tantredi, Majesta. The Civil War, and John Williams in Concert. The band was under the leadership of Director, Ms. Diane Tizzano, and Assistant Director, Ms. Jean Wroblewski.

This year's Fall Play was John Lennon and Me. The title was deceiving because the play had nothing to do with John Lennon. It was about Star (Brittany Spicer), who had cystic fibrosis, a disease that was always fatal. She stayed in a place called Heart House. Star got a new roommate Courtney (Emily Kliever) who was her age and they became good friends. One problem about Star was that she liked to stretch the truth which got her into all sorts of problems.

The play was done by a talented group of students. Brittany Spicer played the star of the play, Star. This freshman was extremely talented and it really showed during her performance. Also with leading roles were Emily Kliever as Courtney, Tara Toth as Sally Kasten, and Meredith Wise as Nurse Janice. Rounding out her fourth play, Emily gave a very excellent performance. Tara Toth really showed that she could act. This was her second play at Euclid. Meredith played a live-in nurse who was very perky. She stole the show every time she went onstage. Chernita White played Star’s mother finishing her third fall play. Amber Lynch didn’t play a character but helped greatly in the production of the play.

Many students took part in Student Council, the governing student body of EHS. These students showed a tremendous amount of school spirit throughout the year. With the help of the advisers, Ms. Stephanie Norris and Ms. Michelle Rymarczyk, student council planned many important school events. Students in student council worked hard to plan spirit weeks as well as the Homecoming and Winterfest dances. Another event student council helped with was the blood drive that was held during school hours. One of the highlights for student council members was the Student Council Junior Olympics that took place on January 30, 2004. Student Council was led by President, Emily Kliever, and Vice President, Michelle Zudic.

N.J.R.O.T.C. helps students learn about the armed services

N.J.R.O.T.C. was a program that allowed students to prepare themselves for entry into the armed services. They learned about naval life in class, and they practiced marching and coordinating their motions. They attended several drill and rifle competitions throughout the year in which they competed with similar teams from other schools. They also supplied color guard for all of Euclid's football games, some basketball games, commencement, as well as some other assemblies. Graduates had an opportunity to go into the military or attend college where they participated in R.O.T.C. programs if they wished.

The annual Winterfest dance took place on Saturday, February 21, 2004 in the E-room ballroom. Students that came enjoyed three hours of fun beginning at 8:00 p.m. Stars in The City was sponsored by Student Council and cost $15 per person. There were about 350 students who attended the regal event. The entrance resembled that of a park and the students entered the ballroom via a stone walkway. The dance floor was decorated to resemble a club. There were balloons with gold stars on the ceiling, inflatable musical instruments hanging on the walls, and a duck pond on a pool table. The Winterfest Court was announced and Jon Calabrese was King. Michelle Riendeau was Winterfest Princess and Shivon Jackson was the Queen. The music was provided by NRG DJ’s who made sure to mix up the music selection to please everyone. Each person went home with a few souvenirs as a remembrance of their wonderful time at the Winterfest Dance.

Different cultures look at events in different ways

AFS (American Field Service) was a club whose members were interested in making contact with students from other countries and to learn about their cultures. AFS was an international organization which would enable students from other countries to visit America for a year and allow Americans to visit foreign countries in exchange. Mrs. Pamela Graham was the adviser for the group.

Rachel Federer did some Scottish dances for the AFS and Cultural Clubs.

The Cultural Club was a way for students to learn about other cultures. The members talked about what it was like to be a member of a cultural and how one culture differed from others. They learned it was very important for everyone to respect the cultures of everyone else. Mrs. Marketa President was the adviser for the group.

Mediators help students to resolve their conflicts

Mediators help students to resolve their conflicts. When trouble with someone bothered them, many students did not know what to do. Often, there was a conflict between the two parties involved, which led to physical confrontations. Conflicts didn’t always have to lead to violence. Sometimes mediation provided an answer. Mediators were trained students who were trained in techniques useful for resolving tense situations. If a teacher saw a situation developing in class, they could refer the students to mediation, where the mediators would explain the situation to the offenders who would then come up with a remedy for the problem. It worked since the situation was explained to an impartial panel of mediators who could think about a solution in a logical manner. If the offenders still couldn’t work out their problems, they were disciplined by the Unit Officers. Ms. Kathleen Mc Donnell was the adviser for the group.

HELPING AROUND THE SCHOOL

Many students loved to help other people. If this was the case they got an opportunity if they were an Office Aide or a Clinic Aide. In a school of over two thousand students, hundreds of faculty members, dozens of secretaries and many counselors or administrators there were many jobs that could be done by students who were willing to help. They helped the secretaries and counselors by filing reports and records, running errands, sharpening pencils, delivering call slips to students in classes and many of the hundreds of little jobs that were necessary to conduct daily school business. In the clinic they did some of the same things but also got a chance to participate in some health related tasks such as taking temperatures and administering to students who were not feeling well. There were many ways students could help and many students who wanted to help.

Are you interested in fixing cars? If so, the vocational Automotive Program might be for you. It gave students an opportunity to learn how to make basic repairs on their automobiles and enabled them to go into a program whereby they could become certified automotive technicians and get a good job as an auto mechanic. The program lasted for three periods each day and there was a junior class and a senior class. Mr. Tony Rozman was the instructor for the program.

GETTING CONNECTED
CISCO helps students learn about computer networking

Want to learn about networking of computers? The CISCO program could be for you. The use of computers was an ongoing growing industry and the ability to get the computers to talk to each other was very important since many businesses and even homes had several computers that needed to communicate with each other. The members of the class learned how to get the computers to work together and after graduation could expect to get a good job in the computer industry after college. Mr. Roy Pignatiello was the instructor for the course.

Josh Gundelach, Claudio Gentile, Rob Humeniuk and Rahil Malik are usually working hard on their computers.

Students get an opportunity to explore career choices

Career Expo was held in the West Gymnasium on Thursday, January 15, 2004 and allowed students to learn about the different vocational programs that were offered at Euclid High School. These programs included Automotive Services, Criminal Justice, Commercial Art, Computer Information Systems, CISCO Networking, Career Based Intervention and Family & Consumer Sciences. Students could come during their lunch periods.

Key Club (Kiwanis Educated Youth) was an international service organization at the high school that focused on student service in the school and community. Through different projects, the members of Key Club were able to serve the community and make it a better place to be. Some of the projects that students participated included helping at open house, visiting a nursing home, babysitting at the hospital, putting on a haunted hay ride, and helping out with Fred's Club. Key Club also held a school collection for Unicef, the Children's Miracle Network, and the Sight Center.

Eucuyo gives students and opportunity to get their creativity published

Eucuyo was under the new leadership of Mr. Dan Beckwith and Mr. Dale Pagano. Eucuyo set out with much anticipation for the new school year. Members requested literary and photographic submissions from all members of the student body for review. The editors reviewed the submissions, chose the best ones, and then assembled these into a book that was sold to students in the spring. The editors used InDesign to compose the pages.

-Holly Yanacek

Mr. Dale Pagano and Mr. Dan Beckwith kept watch over all the activities that the members of Eucuyo did. There were lots of stories that had to be read and pictures that had to be judged in order to get the Eucuyo put together.

STUDENTS HELPING STUDENTS

Many Euclid students were helped through the peer tutoring process

Peer Tutoring Program was started by Mrs. Susan Yanacek, a local social worker. The program was to be a help to students that were struggling in subjects that they were struggling in. Students met with their tutors, in study groups, before and after school. The tutoring program benefited the tutors as well as the students. The tutors gained a valuable experience in teaching others and reinforce the information they were teaching as tutors.

EXPRESSING THEMSELVES

Commercial Art prepares students for careers in business.

The Commercial Art class was a two-year vocational program for juniors and seniors that introduced students to the art and business world. Students in this program got a lot of experience using their skills in art to create many different art forms, including advertisements. They also put together a portfolio that contained all of the art work they accomplished in it. The portfolios were then presented by the students to art institutes and at job interviews. Commercial Art students also held an art show in which all of their works of art were displayed.

WITH HONORS

National Honor Society rewards students who have achievement and service

A high grade point average was not enough as far as the National Honor Society was concerned. A student also had to be able to show that they were involved in activities both in and out of school. In addition every candidate had to be reviewed by the faculty who rated the candidates on a scale from 1-5. After reviewing the qualifications new members were tapped on Tuesday, February 10, during homeroom. The new members were inducted on Thursday, February 26 at The Manor Party Center. NHS members had served Emily Kliever and Zoe Harrold get ready to begin the meeting. NHS members anticipating that they will learn a lot about what will be happening throughout the year. Emily Kliever and Zoe Harrold talk to Ms. Diane Maroli about how the induction process is going to proceed since this is the first time it would be done at The Manor and not in the auditorium of the high school.

Criminal Justice was an occupational program that was offered to juniors and seniors at The Euclid High School. The vocational law enforcement students were instructed by Mr. Nick Selvaggio. In this program, the students learned many aspects of law enforcement including forensic science and how to control fights. They were taught a lot of information that would help them if they wanted to pursue a career in the field of law enforcement in the future. These students patrolled the school as security guards, and they helped to control fights in the halls.

COMPETING IN SCIENCE

Science Olympics gives students a chance to sharpen their science skills

Science Olympiad was a club that allowed students to show off their knowledge of science. Students that participated in Science Olympiad competed with other schools in science-related activities. In order to prepare for the competitions, members tried to learn as much material as possible about their topics in order to complete the activities successfully. Science Olympiad anticipated their participation in their science competition at Case Western Reserve on February 21, 2004. Mrs. Judy Ladaika was the adviser for the group.

AMATEUR MOVIE MAKERS

The Film and Theater Club explores the art of composing student-made movies

Do you want to make a movie? With the proliferation of video tape recorders everyone wanted to make a movie. Making a movie, however, was not the same thing as making a video tape. A movie told a story and was much more professional than just taking pictures. Members of the Film and Theater Club learned how to design the story, take the tape and then edit into something that looked professional. Using computers with multimedia capability, they were able to end up with movies that looked professional.

Mrs. Marketa President, the club’s adviser, showed them how to design, take and edit their tapes into professional-looking movies.

At the beginning of the year the students learned what was expected of them.

Survey makes sure that the students get the school’s news

Euclid's newspaper, the Survey, was a huge success thanks to the efforts of many individuals. Covering everything from sports and music to the school transformation, the Survey kept the student body, the faculty, and the community informed about the latest happenings at the high school. Students that were members of the Survey staff learned valuable lessons while working to put the newspaper together. These students learned responsibility and how to work together as a team, and they were able to further develop their writing skills. The Survey staff advisers, Mr. Robert Petrovic and Mr. Al Bartucci, made sure that everything ran smoothly. In addition to reporters, copy editors, layout editors, photographers, and business and advertising managers, the staff did their best to make the Survey a newspaper Euclid Panthers could truly be proud of.

The Future Educators of America Club allowed students to explore careers in education. Meetings were held after school every other Thursday throughout the year. The meetings were open to all students interested in becoming teachers. Under the guidance of Miss Fulton, FEA members received valuable information about colleges and the education profession. Many of these students decided to volunteer their time to shadow teachers and participate in peer tutoring programs.

-Holly Yanacek

Ms. Fulton and Ms. Stephanie Norris helped the students get used to what is going on in the classrooms so they know what to expect when they get into the teaching field.

PROSE OR POETRY?
The Poetry Club would like you to choose poetry
Ski Club gave students a chance to enjoy their winter out in the snow. The snow began in mid December, melted at the end of the month and then came in with a vengeance during January leaving the month with the third most snow in history. All this meant that the Ski Club had really good conditions when they went to Brandywine Ski Area. Thirty Euclid students spent their Thursday evenings skiing, snowboarding or snowblading on the hills. It was a really inexpensive opportunity since equipment was provided (if needed), lessons were given and the students were transported to the area by bus. It was an excellent opportunity for students to learn how to ski or snowboard. Mr. Bill Von Benken was the adviser for the group.

Rebecca Kinison, Kate Kinison and Michelle Zudic went skiing for their first times this year. Members of Ski Club included Chris Adams, Chioke Barkari, Kara Brehm, Meredith Burge, Dominic Capicicione, Amy Conson, Amber Dantled, Jim Dorsey, Jennifer Eastburn, Joe Fisher, Erin Gutbrod, Zoe Harrold, Ben Horkan, Kate Kinison, Rebecca Kinison, Rahul Malik, Chris Mc Kenzie, Anuria Mehtar, Megan Milhalich, Rachel Perovsek, Erica Ranaiko, Matt Sospasotti, Renee Shelly, Ryan Sotka, Karen Sudama, Cassie Taylor, Robbie Yazquez, Holly Yanacek, Dan Zudic, Michelle Zudic.
Drill Team performed at basketball games and assemblies

You had to have rhythm if you were to be a member of the Drill Team. The members practiced after school by rehearsing their moves in the halls and the E-room. They put together shows that they presented to the school at half-times during basketball games and also performed at the Student Council Junior Olympics assembly. The members enjoyed showing their talents to the rest of the school. The group was advised by Mrs. Jennifer Teknipp.

Chess Club members learned about strategy and pursuit

Like strategy games? Then maybe Chess Club was for you. Playing chess gave members a chance to compete against each other in one of the oldest strategy games in the world. They learned to think ahead and plan strategies on how to capture the king. They also had competitions with other schools to see how they could do. Mr. Barry Mita was the adviser for the group.

RECYCLING HELPS

S.A.V.E. helps the environment by reusing resources

Nate Miller, Kelly Ammon, Nikki Philips and Amalia Boris assemble boxes that will be used for collecting cans to be recycled.

Earth only had a finite amount of resources and this was a fact that was appreciated by members of S.A.V.E. (Students Against Violating the Earth). Members collected cans to be recycled and heard speakers talk about ways of reusing many of earth’s limited amount of resources. Ms. Keldur Greene was the person who organized the group’s activities.

THINK BEFORE YOU ACT

S.A.D.D. wants students to make educated decisions

Mrs. Andreea Gorodea works with S.A.D.D. members to assemble reminders that will be passed out to students to remind them about the dangers of making destructive decisions.

S.A.D.D. (Students Against Destructive Decisions) members wanted all students to be aware of the problems that they could get into if they chose to operate a motor vehicle under the influence of a mind altering chemical such as alcohol. The high school years have always been associated with students trying different ways to get high with mind altering chemicals. S.A.D.D. members wanted everyone to know the ramifications that they might face if they did participate in such activities and to make them aware of the ways of preventing problems. Mrs. Andreea Gorodena helped the students perform their services.
Student Media Technicians work behind the scenes to produce shows

The Audio Visual Club were extremely busy this year. They set up all of the sound and video equipment for band, orchestra, and choir concerts. The A/V students prepared for any performance in the auditorium. Besides helping out with concerts, they also helped to keep copy machines jam-free. Student Media Technicians also worked to assist teachers by replacing light bulbs in overhead projectors and delivering TV/DVD players to classrooms. Another new role of A/V members was to take care of the lighting, sound, and stage building of the sets for the high school’s Big Show. They also made sure that the morning announcements ran smoothly each and every day. Mr. Al Black was the director of the Audio Visual Department.

Many Euclid students spend a lot of time at a job

Many students at Euclid High School chose to have a job that they would go to after classes rather than participate in extracurricular activities. There were many benefits to having a job since it taught some students how to manage their money, the importance of attendance and punctuality when relating with an employer and the importance of developing good work habits. Seniors were asked whether or not they had a job and 80% responded that they did with most of them working between 20-29 hours per week. When working many hours, however, students found it difficult to be with their peers since they were either in school or working. The attraction of being able to get a paycheck that they could use to buy things they wanted such as clothes, games and of course a car was a very powerful incentive. Some students actually put away some of their earnings to be used for college.

At the beginning of the school year, every student was given a locker that they could use to store their possessions in as they went through their school day and year. Most students simply hung a lock on the handle and used it that way. Some students, however, used their locker as a creative means to express feelings about their lives and decorated it with pictures and other memorabilia from important events of their lives. Popular subjects included favorite actors and actresses, activities they participated in, friends of family. Their locker was a billboard announcing what was important to them.

CRUX meets to have a religious experience

CRUX were a group of students who believed that there should be a religious presence in their lives. Meeting after school in the band room, they sang songs, read the Bible, and heard about what religion meant in each other's lives. On September 17, they invited everyone to "Meet them at the pole" where they held a short service around the flag pole in the front of the building before school. Ms. Diane Tizzano was the adviser for the group.

beginning of the 2003-2004 school saw many of the usual changes that occurred every year such as new staff to replace old staff who retired or moved on to other positions. This year, however, saw changes that were unprecedented in previous years. Euclid School got a grant from Knowledgeworks for almost $1.5 million to restructure Euclid High School into six smaller schools. The money ultimately came from Microsoft founder, Bill Gates, who decided that the problem with large schools such as Euclid was that they were too impersonal and that no one gets a chance to know anyone else. The solution was to reorganize the school into six smaller schools of no more than 350 students each. In such a school everyone would know everyone else and everyone would have a positive attitude and there would be no problems with attendance and passage of the Ohio Graduation Test which every student had to pass in order to graduate from high school. The grant included a time line which said that the schools had to be in place by the Fall of 2004. Since the grant was only received in August, 2003 and students had to be scheduled in the Spring of 2004 that did not leave much time to get the entire plan into place. Each of the smaller schools needed a principal so the regular Unit Principals were removed and substitutes were assigned for the duration of the 2003-2004 school year. The new small school principals then were free to work throughout the year on trying to organize the smaller schools. Each of the smaller schools had a theme such as General Studies & Liberal Arts, Fine Arts & Performing Arts, Business & communications, Math, Engineering & Science Technology, Global Studies and Public Service & Trade and Industry. It was safe to say that most of the conversations that took place between the teachers throughout involved the solution of problems related to the smaller schools.

Transformation initiative leads to major reshuffling in the administrative sector

A major reorganization took place during the 2003-2004 school year. Because of the Transformation grant, many of the administrative staff entered a one-year long training program to design the new smaller schools. These people then became the new principals for the six smaller schools. Because of that new people were moved into administrative positions in the high school to take over all the duties that were normally performed by the old Unit Principals. Justin Antonini became the interim Principal/Associate Principal while Charlie Smialek, Ed Klein, Scott Wilson and Shon Smith became the Interim Unit Principals. William Baylis, Tina Elliott, Jim Poulson, Ron Seymour, Claudia Spencer and Elie Thomas became the principals for the new smaller schools.

The 2003-2004 staff saw many changes due to the reorganization of the high school into the six smaller schools. Several teachers were promoted to the positions of unit principals, and their vacancies had to be filled by mobile teachers, which resulted in some confusion at the beginning of the year. After this was accomplished, classes settled down, and the process of learning continued. There was much anticipation throughout the year because of the uncertainties that occurred because of the transformation initiative. The reorganization was very complex, which resulted in many after school staff meetings and in service days where the staff met without the students present. Many staff members missed classes because they were Design Team members. Throughout the process, most staff members maintained a positive attitude and the process of learning continued.

It was always a problem being an underclassman. They were always looking forward to becoming a senior and then being able to graduate. But in 2003-04 there was a new problem that was faced by every underclassman. That problem was the transformation that Euclid High School was undergoing into six smaller schools. Change was always difficult, but this change was really going to be more difficult. The seniors were luck since they would be gone and now have to face the change. The freshmen were just beginning their high school years and had a couple of years to see how things were going to work out. The present juniors were in the most unsure situation since they were almost done with their high school careers and then they had to undergo a complete reorganization for their last year. Much of the discussions that were heard throughout the year dealt with the reorganization.

SENIOR ANTICIPATION
Juniors experience least amount of change with transformation

Below: English class is an important place to learn how to prepare for the future.

Rebecca Christopher and Daniel Zudic hope that they will be able to participate in all the things they enjoy their last year of high school.

Members of the class of 2005 participated in many activities and sports during their high school days. They were an integral part of the school scene. They only had one remaining year at Euclid High School so the transformation affected them the least. They were an active class but they had to fill the steps that were formed by the class of 2004.

Jackie Janda and Rachel Jochum, Carrie Doerr, Dawn Ott, Rachel Jochum and Anthony Jochum, Dave Swansegar and Kate Kinison and Lisa Murray and Latoya Wynn working hard to succeed in the future.
Sophomores have gotten used to the school and are beginning to become productive members of the student body.

In the 2002-03 school year, the class of 2006 was the lowest on the totem pole. This year, however, the sophomores were relieved to finally be moving up in the world. They had a better understanding of how the school operated and became more involved in extracurricular activities and became a more important part of the workings of Euclid High School. The sophomore year was one of the most significant of a student's life since it was the time that most of them began to drive.

Many also got jobs and began planning for college. Sophomore year was less stressful since students knew their way around the school but because of the transformation of the school there was more stress since no one knew exactly what the school was going to look like in the future. The anticipation was very stressful for sophomores since they still had two more years to go.

Marissa Mannarino and Jackie Janda watch their reaction very intensely as they anticipate something interesting happening.

Karen Connnavino and Amanda Hill anticipate that the reaction that they are doing will give them meaningful data.

Andrew Collins and Travis Beach work on their chemistry experiment with the anticipation that something exciting might happen.

Amy Barwick fights for the ball with the anticipation that she will be able to get control of it and be able to pass it off to one of her team mates.

Rachel Perovsek and Holly Yanacek anticipate having a lot of fun on the ski slopes with the Ski Club.

The freshmen class members had a lot of topics that they had to look forward to. They were the new class in the large school soon to become a small school. The freshmen always had a hard time since they were the new kids on the block, but in this case they were not the only ones that would be the new kids on the block. They would be affected the most since they would be in the school the longest. They had to be concerned with which of the small schools they would end up in, where would their friends be, how this was all going to come together and would it work. Many freshmen adapted well to the school and joined clubs and participated in sports and classroom activities. Others had a hard time trying to fit into the school environment.

Many events occurred at the end of the 2002-2003 school year that could not be covered in the 2003 Euclidian since all material for that book had to be at the printing plant in early March in order for the book to be delivered in time for the seniors to get them before they graduated. Because of that, all Spring Sports and events that occurred after the beginning of March are covered in this section. Many important events in the school year occurred after the March deadline.

Baseball 2003 at Euclid High School was not a very productive event. For the first time ever, the varsity team ended the season with a losing record. The coach never turned the scores in so the record was unavailable. One bright spot was the freshmen team which finished the season with a 13-6 overall record and 7-1 in the L.E.L.

SUCCESS ON THE COURTS

Boys’ Tennis goes .500 for the season

The boys’ season began in mid-March with practices at an indoor racquet club. The boys’ coach, Mrs. Dania Bane, was in her second year of coaching the varsity at Euclid High School. There was strong leadership within the team. Seniors, Steve Bui and Jimmy Vitolo held positions at first and third singles while sophomore, Robbie Vazquez, played second singles. The team showed great improvement and performed better than in the past. Jimmy Vitolo made it to the third round of Districts and a doubles team of Andy Misiak and Matt Kushan made it to the second round of Districts. Their overall record was 8-8.

The second annual Music and Talent Show was held on Saturday, April 5, 2003 and raised a lot of money to help pay for Prom. It consisted of many students dressed up in formal and casual outfits that would go along with Prom and After Prom. It also consisted of many singing and dancing groups that entertained the audience. Mrs. Markeeta President did an excellent job of getting all the students together and able to perform in such a creative fashion.

Mrs. Markeeta President organized the show.
Ashley Youngblood danced to the music.
Kurt Long dressed as Elvis Presley.
Rio Green and Mike Stoner sang a duet together.

The Senior Art Show of 2003 was a great success and a wonderful experience for its student participants. Students in Advanced Photography, Commercial Art and A.P. Portfolio had the opportunity to sell their artwork in the school auditorium, duplicating a gallery setting. Most students put up more than one piece of artwork for sale. The sales of the pieces netted about $1000. Mrs. Edie Mellen was the coordinator for the program.

Negean Mobasseri
Big Show 2003 was a positive and enjoyable experience for all who participated. The musical, "Guys and Dolls," was a huge success for the participants and the audience. Each character had a lasting impression on the audience and each actor did a great job in performing their roles. Dan May played the part of Nathan Detroit, the main character who was always looking for a spot to have his infamous crap game. Tamika Nunley played Adelaide who has been engaged to Nathan for 14 years and performed in a nightclub. Craig Stigamier played Sky Masterson who was a slick, high-rolling gambler who falls for Sarah Brown who was played by Kari Longstreth. Each vocal performance was outstanding and the acting was flawless, but another great part of the show was the pit orchestra and set crew. The pit practiced long and hard and it showed throughout the entire show. The set crew also had their share of hard work with building and maintaining a great set. Overall, the show was a great success and was enjoyed by all.

Last year’s Spring Play, the dark comedy, “Frank’s Life” was a huge success. Students, teachers and members of the community came to support some of Euclid High’s most talented actors.

“Frank’s Life”, written by Mark Dunn, told the story of a man whose whole life was a TV show. But he was the only one who didn’t know it. When Frank’s loved ones were forced to deal with a pay cut, things became chaotic and Frank began to question whether his life was real or if something was being hidden from him.

This was the last play for all the male actors, seniors, Dan May, Jason Weber and Anthony Bagwell. Dan had the leading role of sweet and trusting Frank, while Jason portrayed his best friend, Carley. Anthony’s character was the stressed-out Pruett, the producer doing everything he could to stop Frank from finding out the truth.

Other parts were those of Frank’s sarcastic and conceited wife, Shelly (Meredith Wise), and Corley’s wife who has secretly been in love with Frank for years, Stace (Emily Kliever). Andrea Mitchell played Frank’s irritated mother, Gladys, while Jessica Oslund had the role of Frank’s slightly-insane-but-adorable little sister, Joy. “Frank’s Life” was the second play directed by Mr. Greg Baca and Miss Tinney. Many others were involved in the play, including James Jones as understudy and Kevin Miledelic, the technical director.

All of the cast and crew put much time into the production of the play and appreciated the applause from the audience.

Emily Kliever

Jessica Oslund asks Dan May why they can’t go somewhere that night.

Jessica Oslund (Joy) tells Dan May that she has something she wants to talk to him about “in private” and says they should go up to the roof.

Tension builds as Joy begins having a fit and everyone else is afraid she might reveal something about the show to Frank.

Anthony Bagwell is worried about pay cuts because of low ratings.

Jason Weber and Emily Kliever wonder how they will survive with such a large pay cut.

Meredith Wise consoles Dan May as he remembers what a great guy Bill was.

Jessica Oslund (Joy) tells Dan May that she has something she wants to talk to him about “in private” and says they should go up to the roof.

Above: Jason Weber tells Dan May about an absurd dream he has had.

Right: Jessica Oslund decides that she can’t play Joy anymore because she IS Joy.
The Senior Awards Program was held in the auditorium on May 20, 2003. During that time, seniors were presented with various kinds of awards that they earned as a result of their work while at Euclid High School. The assembly recognized the students' accomplishments and showed to the rest of the class all the awards that the classmates earned.

The Annual Senior-Faculty Basketball Game was held in the East Gym on Friday, March 14, 2003. If a student did not purchase a ticket for the game they had to remain in homeroom at the end of the day while those that did purchase tickets went to the game. The students in the stands had a lot of fun cheering on their favorite players. It was an enjoyable experience for all who attended.

There was lots of activity on the court.
SHOWING OFF WITH STYLE
Prom gave students a chance to dress up

The Class of 2003 held their Prom at the Landerhaven Party Center on Friday evening, May 30, 2003. It was a festive affair in which everyone came dressed in their best regalia. After arriving, couples took lots of pictures of their friends and had their pictures taken by the professionals. The then had dinner in the main ballroom. After dinner, couples danced for the rest of the Prom. After leaving Landerhaven, couples went to after-prom and enjoyed themselves into the early morning hours of Saturday. The Prom was a fun event that was enjoyed by all.

Before the meal was served the students gathered around and took pictures and had their pictures taken.

Seniors had lots of fun talking and socializing before the dinner was served.

Danquan Prouty and Patrice Hill and Leslie Penko and Dan May and Tamika Nunley and Marques Richeson were some of the couples who stopped to have their picture taken.

Marvin Cross, Jessica Oslund and Jason Hayes really enjoyed themselves.

Meghan Ryan, Jacqui Greene and Caitlin Proctor, Jessica Jurcak, Jenny Janda and Renee Vanek liked to pose for pictures.

Cory Mc Redmond and Stephanie Svoboda and everyone else at the dance were dressed up and looked very elegant for the occasion.
The seniors lined up on the stairwells and the balcony before they entered the theater. It was a very crowded situation. Students arrived an hour before the ceremonies began so there was lots of time for socializing and pictures.

Dr. Joffrey Jones gave a short speech at Commencement.

Commencement was the beginning of life outside high school

Commencement for the class of 2003 was held at the State Theater on Monday, June 2 at 7:00 p.m. With a graduating class of over 300, the ceremony was one to remember. Selections from the band as well as Senior choral members were performed at the start of the evening. Words of encouragement from members of the school board and Principal, Mr. Ronald Seymour were delivered to the graduates. Superintendent, Dr. Joffrey Jones was delighted to participate in his first commencement ceremony at Euclid, and expressed his gratitude for the chance to be involved with the Euclid district. Salutatorian, Stephanie Black and Valedictorian, Ross Salupo addressed their fellow students with words for the future and positive reflections on the quality environment Euclid had to offer. Diplomas were passed out, and the tassels were moved from right to left. The graduates left with a sense of sorrow, but also a sense of excitement for the beginning of the new chapter of their lives.

-Natalie Greene

Ross Salupo was the Valedictorian for the Class of 2003 and gave an appropriate speech to the graduates and their parents.

Principal. Mr. Ronald Seymour, introduced the Superintendent of Schools, the School Board and other groups and students.

Stephanie Black was the Salutatorian for the class and also gave a speech.

Heather,
As you begin this new chapter in life, always remember we love you and are very proud of you. You are a lovely young lady, and we know that whatever you do, you will give it your all. Remember as you continue your education to study but also take time to have some fun. Enjoy each day, as it is a blessing. May all your dreams come true.

Dear Claudio,

From the moment we laid eyes on you your innocence filled our heart with tenderness, a gift from God we waited so long. We watched you grow and marveled in your “very first everything” jotting them down carefully in your baby book while realizing the years and moments like this rush by all too fast. We played together and learned together. You showed a hunger for learning new things, you read fluently by the time you were 4 years old, which lead you to exploring a new world of technology, the computer. We enjoyed many shopping sprees at “Toys-R-Us”, getting familiar with the staff, and yes, never leaving empty-handed. Your love for technology was obvious even at this young age, continually progressing to bigger and better things. Perhaps we spoiled you somewhat, but we prefer to look at it as nurturing your passion for technology. You are well on your way to a life independent from ours, the childhood is gone and the memories may fade, but the love and pride we have for you will forever stay in our hearts.

May God continue to smile upon you.

Love,

Mom & Dad

Dear Catherine,

When I held my tiny baby I had no way of knowing,
That you’d be on the basketball court, 5'10" and growing!
I never thought you’d spike a ball or have a pitcher’s arm,
I only prayed the Lord would keep you safe and free from harm.
I hoped you would have good true friends, be smart and always kind,
I prayed for your success but NHS was not in mind!
I look upon my baby’s face - a woman I see there,
And still I pray the Lord to keep you near and in His care.
We are SO proud of you Roses - Spud - Coach Katie - Mouse.

Lindsay Me Gill

Lindsay, You’ve been a challenge since day one, almost born at home, running at 8 months and never sleeping through the night until 19 months old.

We can’t help but smile when we think of the ups and downs we’ve shared and the situations you’ve gotten into and out of. Your teachers called you a “free-spirit” - how right they were - you said it’s been a ‘bumpy-road” - how right you were.

We want you to know you are a very special light in our lives, a part of so many of our favorite memories.

This isn’t just an ending, it’s the beginning of new possibilities, of events and accomplishments you couldn’t possibly predict today - reaching goals you never thought you’d attain that changes your outlook forever.

Believe in yourself, imagine your future, remember what matters and trust your instincts. We’re behind you every step of the way as you begin the next chapter of your life.

Thanks for being our daughter,

“God made daughters to give Mom’s and Dad’s lasting pleasure and to be a priceless gem they treasure. Daughters are very special and from the start with their charm they melt your heart. With dancing eyes and a loving smile, they get that way with grace and style. They become Mom’s best friend but for Dad right to the end they’ll always be Daddy’s little Girl.”

We will always love and support you.

Dear Delano,

Remember all the steps you have taken to this point. Remember there are many more steps you must take. Life is one step at a time. If you find yourself running and can’t stop, look to God and fall to your knee, He will always bring the ease. Keep the peace that is your presence, keep the respect that is your being, keep the love that is your soul and God will always bless you. And last and most important, count each and every blessing that comes your way.

Mom, Dad & Matt

Christopher M. Smith
Christopher, it has truly been a pleasure watching you grow from a curious, rambunctious, funny little boy into such a wonderful, caring young man. Thanks for the wonderful memories. Continue to strive for excellence in all that you do and success will come your way. Remember with God all things are possible. We are very proud of you!
Congratulations and we love you.
Mom, Dad & Kendra

Crystal Sutton
Crystal, you’re my first baby and from the time you were born I knew you would be great and look at you now. I’m so proud. Love you always,
Your Mommie

Rachaele Leigh Swartart
Rachaele, we have had our moments but I love you and wish you the best.
Love,
Mom, Silvano, Grandma, Grandpa, Vickie & Clayonna

Erica Vandermark
Erica: Seems like only yesterday you were our LITTLE PRINCESS. Now you will soon be ending one chapter in your life and beginning the next one. May you always keep God by your side as you follow your dreams and reach for the stars. We are both very proud for the young woman you have become, and we know you will be successful in whatever you do.
Love,
Mom & Dad

Joshua Wallace
Josh, the years have passed so quickly! You have grown into a caring and responsible young man. It will be bitter/sweet to see you spread your wings and fly. Be true to Christ and everything will work out for the good.
Love, Mom

Jonel Wallace
Jonel, to our one and only. You have grown to be a beautiful young lady. We love you unconditionally and you are our pride and joy.
Love,
Mom & Dad

Rachaele, we have had our moments but I love you and wish you the best.
Love,
Mom, Silvano, Grandma, Grandpa, Vickie & Clayonna

Shannon Smith
Congratulations, Baby Girl. Keep up the good work.
Love,
Mom, Dad, Grey, Darnell, Michael, and family

Shannon Whalen
Shannon, Always remember to follow your heart. I love you,
Mom
I love you. Have a good time and come home. Love, Sateria

Continue to do and be the best. Always aim high and remember how awesome and blessed you truly are. God said it, We(you) believe it and that settles it! We love you so very much. We'll miss you. Love, Mom & Dad

Dear Paul(Tony), I am so proud of you! Still today I can’t believe you’re a senior at the school I graduated from four years ago. You will truly be missed when you go away to college. I wish you all the success in life and may God continue to bless you in every way. Love you always, Your sister Shavon

Michelle, It was only yesterday that you were our little girl. You’ve grown into a beautiful, mature and intelligent young lady. Now it’s time for you to reach for your goals and do what you’ve always dreamed of to bring happiness and contentment to your life the way you have to ours. We are so proud of you and all your accomplishments. Continue to keep the high standards in all you do. Please know we love you and will always be there for you. We have been blessed to have you as our daughter and sister. Don’t worry-Be happy! Love, Mom, Dad, Michael, and Daniel

WISHING THE CLASS OF 2004

A PROSPEROUS LIFE
the picture patrons were in full color. Also, a high percentage of the students ordered their yearbook with their name imprinted on the cover for easy identification. Some students ordered the three CD set of digital pictures that contained most of the pictures that appeared in the yearbook in full color plus many others that didn’t make it into the book. The files were stored in JPEG format and were accessible using most computers.

Thank You

The staff of the 2004 Euclidian would like to extend thanks to all who helped to make this book possible. First and foremost, thanks have to go to the adviser, Mr. Bill You Benken for the many long hours of hard work and planning that had to be put in to get the entire operation going and to keep it going. Others to be thanked are Ohio School Pictures, Inc., for taking the team pictures and the senior and underclass staff pictures. Jostens Yearbook Company for putting it all together in such an artistic manner, Mrs. Jennifer Beatty for all the time she spent arranging photography dates and supplying needed materials, Mrs. Marsh Knauß for all the time and work she did trying to get the senior and underclass pictures taken and chosen, and all the writers and photographers who contributed their time, and last but not least, the entire student body at Euclid High School without which the book could not exist.

Staff

Many people helped in some way with the 2004 Euclidian. Some wrote stories while others worked on laying out the book. Jackie Janda, Emily Mc Ilvaine and Erin Rice did a lot of work with creating the collage. John Haynes and Holly Yanacek did a lot of story writing and helped with laying out the pages. Other students who helped in various ways were Andrea Tarach, Amelia Mehtar, and Michelle Znic.

Disclaimer

The 2003-2004 school year is history. Many interesting and significant events occurred during that time in the Euclidian tried to cover as many of as possible. This was difficult due to the limited staff. If we missed something, we are sorry. We sincerely apologize for any errors or omissions that occurred in the book but this is a single printing of a high school yearbook and errors will occur.

Friday, January 30, 2004 Student Council was able to hold its Junior Olympics after having been delayed from the previous Friday in which classes were cancelled because of the snow. Each of the classes sponsored a team and the staff also fielded a team to compete against each other in such events as finding a piece of gum in a pie plate, full of powder without using your hands, a pie eating contest, a relay race, a toilet paper wrapping contest and a tug of war to determine the winners. The teachers and the sophomores were in the top two places and the winner was decided by a tug of war which the sophomores won after a fierce battle. The event was a lot of fun for all participants and spectators and Student Council made money from it.

Mobile Teacher, Ms. Shannon Setser really got wrapped up in her work.

Mr. Al Bartucci was the master of ceremonies

Right: The sophomores tugged their way to victory.
